Presented with an existing tired looking mirror glass clad 10,350sqft two storey commercial office building, Woods Hardwick were approached for proposals to re-design the external envelope and refurbish the interior to create new offices for educational computer specialist Crick Software.

The brief was to create a new spacious reception area and open plan office accommodation that would inspire and present a design aesthetic and image appropriate for the client and its customers.

The new look re-modelled elevations have been re-clad in a palette of materials including natural terracotta, micro-rib metal panels and glass with a central feature glass fronted entrance lobby.

The cost of the project was £0.5 million which included fit out works.
